Raffle to be Drawn at Caloundra on 11 Aug 18

Meetings at Caloundra and Buderim this week will be the last chance for members to buy tickets in the current raffle. The prize for this raffle is one of the popular Samsung Galaxy Tablets. The one for this raffle is a 10.1 in Galaxy Tab A6 which will give you that extra viewing area.

Full specifications are on display where tickets are being sold. The Raffle will be drawn at Caloundra on Sat 11 Aug 18.

As usual tickets will be one dollar each and buying to tickets is voluntary.

SCCC Aug 18 Monthly Committee Meeting

The Aug 18 SCCC Monthly Committee Meeting will be held on Sat 11 Aug 18 following the Weekly SCCC Meeting at Caloundra.

Buderim Meeting Thu 9 Aug 18 Tutorial Session 3.00 pm to 3.50 pm

There will be no tutorial in the Tutorial room for the 3.00 pm to 3.50 pm session on Thu 9 Aug 18. This has been started due to no members or only one or two members coming to the tutorials after the tea break in the past few weeks.

Members who have a question or need help on a particular subject (eg Yardis Back Up, Graphics etc) may see David Gould in the Main Room in this tutorial session or earlier in the day with their request. If the item is of interest to other members it may then be announced at tea time what subject/s will be covered so other members may also sit in on the help session with David.

Unidentified Deposit Held by Club as at 6 Aug 18

From time to time there are deposits made to the Club Bank account that cannot be identified by a members name. A recent unidentified deposit of $50 is held.

If a member thinks they made a deposit and are now not receiving Weekly Bulletins or an updated membership card please telephone the Club Information Line (54921005 – leave a message if the call is not answered) and name the bank that you made the deposit at and the approximate date so you can be told if the deposit made has been credited to your name or not.

Aussie Adventure enthusiast and engineer Terrence Byrnes needed a tool. Not just any tool, but a bright and flexible one to accompany him on his adventures. Enter KLiPT.

KLiPT is the epitome of the mother of invention. It is like a Swiss Army light (sorry that name is gone!) and combines a custom designed carabiner with a bottle opener, ruler, ¼ socket, cutter, wrench, and more. It attaches to a bright USB rechargeable 300 lumen LED flashlight.

So, KLiPT is a flashlight and a flexible tool. More the other way around.

KLiPT comprises

- an LED flashlight
- detachable titanium multi-tool clip with socket
- secret storage capsule
- quick release carry system

See the feature list, illustrations and more information at the above website.

2. App Annie Looks at 10-Years of the iOS App Store

App Annie has released more insights on the history of the iOS app store. The report coincides with the ten-year anniversary of Apple's online portal. It includes country-specific information for Australia.

The full 34-page report (<https://www.appannie.com/en/insights/market-data/popular-ios-apps-time/>) is an interesting read as it follows the rise and rise of the iOS app store. Arguably the greatest thing to come out of Apple!

Interestingly the APAC region accounts for nearly 60% of the app spend. Apples' homeland is only 27%. Games account for 75% of the spend but only comprise 31% of downloads.

App Annie says of note is the all-time top ten game apps by download. Followed by how that data relates to the top-ten by consumer spend.

Coming in first on the downloads list is Candy Crush Saga. It also appears second on the list of top-ten by consumer spend. Subway Surfers takes second place. Fruit

Ninja follows it, Clash of Clans, Honour of Kings, Minion Rush, Angry Birds, Temple Run (one and two taking out eighth and ninth place) and Asphalt 8: Airborne. The list of company headquarters for these apps is diverse: companies with bases in the US; Finland; China; France; and Denmark.

Australia boasts the worldwide HQ of Fruit Ninja. Developer Halfbrick Studios calls Musgrave home in far-north Queensland.
